[AC]=grounded AC outlets

4 vocal mics: shure Beta 58 –A or equivalent

3 instrument mics: shure sm 57 or equivalent (accordion, percussion)

9 drum mics: one kick, one snare, one tom, one floor, one hat, two overheads/conga

3 DI boxes: countryman or equivalent

Mixer: 16 channels minimum

Monitors: high quality full range. If six mixes are not available, then four across the front with drums sharing bass mix okay.

Everyone needs a separate mix!

Vocal Mic's 3 should be ever so slightly higher than the others but pretty close to the same level in front.

High Quality P A System, including high quality monitors(!), excellent sound technician.

Equipment for band:

Drums:

any decent 4 pc kit with reasonably new heads will do. 20-22" kick, snare, 12" rack tom, 14-16" floor tom. Cymbals 22 in. ride (somewhat thick), 18-20 in. cr/ride, 15-16 in. thin crash, splash, 22 in. Swish Knockers (or thin ride w/ rivets), 14 in. hi-hats - all hand hammered preferably. Also, a tambourine attachment for the hi-hat, which is not 100% essential, and 2 cowbells (cha-cha & bongo bell) with a claw mount, at least one conga.

Bass: Ampeg, Mark

Guitar 1: tube amp: super reverb, twin reverb, bass man, deluxe reverb, etc.

Guitar 2: Ideally a Fender Super Reverb or Twin reverb would work fine for me.

For the most part I can make any Fender amp work as long as it's in good condition.

Piano amp: any Fender or powered monitor
